Tax deadline is extended

City Council has extended the deadline for paying winter property taxes, without penalty, until February 29.

"After that date," said City Treasurer John B. Lewkowicz, "there will be a penalty for late tax payment. Therefore, I urge all citizens and taxpayers to pay all the 1983 taxes before the deadline."

Lewkowicz added that on and after March 1, tax payments will have to be paid to the Wayne County Treasurer.

The City Treasurer's Office, located in the City Hall at 11111 Wayne Road, is open daily from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Lewkowicz also reminded residents that forms for the Homestead Property Tax Credit are available in the Assessor's Office, located in the City Hall.

"If a resident needs help to fill out the form, we will gladly assist them," Lewkowicz said. He urged residents to bring with a list of documents needed to complete the form.

The documents include: Social Security number, interest amounts and statements, pension benefits, Social Security benefits, veteran disability compensation, summer and winter tax bills, total heating costs for the calendar year (1983) and all other pertinent tax income information.

For further information, contact the City Treasurer's Office at 941-0666.

Cory learns how to smile

Michigan Paraprofessional Training Institute Dental assisting students visited the third, fourth and fifth grade students at Cory Elementary School last week.

The MPTID assistants instructed the youngsters what is new in good eating habits, and each student was given a toothbrush. MPTI students instructed the pupils individually on proper brushing and flossing techniques.

The visit was in conjunction with National Children's Dental Health Month, celebrated throughout February. This year's theme is, "A Healthy Smile Brightens Everyone's Day".

It's dog tag days

If you're a Romulus resident and own a dog, it's time to purchase or renew its license, cautions City Treasurer John B. Lewkowicz.

Residents may purchase dog licenses Feb. 25, and also have their pet innoculated for a nominal fee at the Department of Public Works garage, located across the street from the Post Office at Shook and Bibbins.

Million dollar motel planned for Wickham

The Romulus Planning Commission last night was expected to approve a site plan for a 102-room, 3-story motel proposed for the Wickham Road area.

The million-dollar construction would cover a 4.2 acre parcel of land that would be built and owned by the Milwaukee-based Budgetel Inn Corporation.

Along with the 102 room, three-story structure, there would be 120 parking spaces provided.

B & G Realty, Inc. representatives were to appear before the Planning Commission to request a site plan approval.

In his report to members of the Planning Commission, Richard K. Carlisle, city planner, stated "that the site is zoned RC Regional Center which permits the construction of motels."

"It appears that area, height, and placement regulations have been met," the report continues, "however, the height of the building in feet and the right-of-way of Wickham Road should be identified. The applicant also has been requested to supply a landscaping plan."

Carlisle recommended approval of the site plan after the proposed development.

"The proposed motor inn would enhance the city and bring in additional revenues and people to our city. We welcome such developments and construction,

"...The Wickham Road area is fast becoming one of the more popular stops for travelers and the hotels and inns accommodate passengers from not only Michigan and the United States but the world."

Dave Paul
Director of Building Safety

applicant resolved some of the minor problems.

The proposed motor inn would join other prominent structures in the area: The Holiday Inn, the Airport Ramada Inn and the Hilton, Sheraton and Abby Motel.

David Paul, Director of Building and Safety, said that he and the city were pleased with the like the proposed inn, because they ensure Romulus of a sound future.

Paul noted that the Wickham Road area is fast becoming one of the more popular stops for travelers and the hotels and inns accommodate passengers from not only Michigan and the United States but the world.

Ordinance proposed

Baumann seeks ban of fireworks

Although it's February and few are thinking about the 4th of July, Councilman Barry Baumann ignited the fireworks last week by urging city council to abolish temporary structures where fireworks are sold during the summer holiday in the city.

The stands suddenly appear a few weeks before the 4th and their owners sell the explosive items in Romulus because most neighboring communities have banned them.

"I believe it's time this council acts to abolish these stands," Baumann said. "I was hoping that after the numerous complaints of a year ago, the state would act and help us out (by making the sales illegal in Michigan), but it looks like it isn't."

Baumann urged his colleagues to consider an ordinance that would abolish roadside firework stands within the city during the 4th of July season. He received support from council with the exception of Jimmie Raspberry.

Raspberry argued that abolishing the stands "would be only hurting the little guy who is out there trying to make a few dollars."

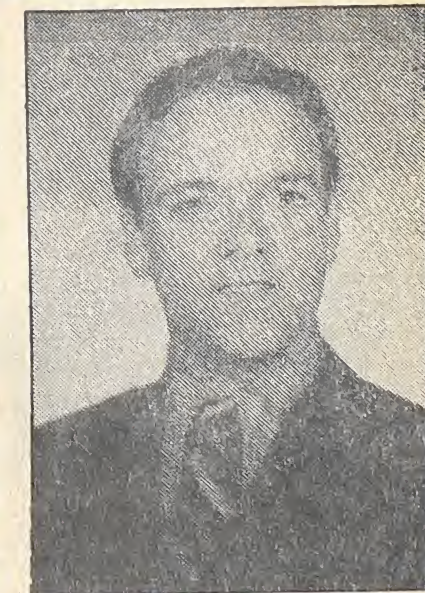

Councilman Baumann replied that he "would be the last person to try to injure the little guy,"

"But I believe that an ordinance of this nature is in the best interests of the residents and this city," he added.

Baumann went on to say that "the city looks like one big junkyard with all of those stands on the corners, and the fireworks signs all over the place."

"Moreover, many of the operators (of the fireworks stands) have been either cited and/or convicted of selling illegal fireworks. This is not the type of business I want in this community."

"We do not need any more bad publicity on this issue as we received a year ago from one of the metropolitan dailies. This is a good town and our people are good people. We do not need this controversy aired in the newspapers again."

BARRY BAUMANN

Man of the year

Some of Romulus's most prominent residents and dignitaries turned out Saturday at the Airport Ramada Inn to honor Jason Lovette, the 1984 recipient of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce's "Business Person of the Year". Receiving a congratulatory kiss from Mayor Beverly McNally (above) who could well be the "Woman of the Year", Jason also receives a plaque (below) from Leo Kalota (at right), President of the Greater Chamber of Commerce, and William Simonds, prominent Romulus businessman and newly elected chamber president. School aid formula attacked

Dr. Bedell advocates 'equalized state aid for schools'

Romulus School Supt. William Bedell last week continued his advocacy of equalized state aid for school districts.

Dr. Bedell reinforced his position while participating in a panel discussion at a working conference in Lansing Feb. 15. The conference, "Focus on Education", was sponsored by the Michigan House of Representatives and the Michigan State Board of Education.

Two years ago Bedell initiated a lawsuit, a subject of much controversy, to equalize state aid between the rich and poor school districts. His suit was joined by 21 other school districts.

At the workshop, chaired by State Rep. Floyd Clack, Dr. Bedell outlined the problem in terms of the average taxpayer.

In districts such as Romulus, Wayne-Westland, Garden City, and Taylor, he told the group, taxpayers pay an average of 8 mills more than in places like

"The obvious injustice of this situation needs to be corrected immediately," he continued. "How do we explain to these taxpayers and their children a need for a lengthy lawsuit to give them equity and justice."

"The only way for such places as Romulus to survive," he added, "is to gain additional millage. Failure to do this will most certainly close the schools."

The lawsuit is pending before the State Board of Appeals.

Some 500 educators attended the conference in Lansing.

Jason Lovette: Man of the Year

He served country, community well

From the State Capital, City Hall and the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce, words of praise and honors were bestowed upon Jason Lovette, the 1984 recipient of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce's Business Person of the Year Award.

Lovette was honored Saturday night at the Airport Ramada Inn where hundreds of friends, relatives community and civic-minded citizens turned out for the annual affair.

The Michigan Legislature honored Lovette with a Concurrent Resolution "for his myriad contributions to the quality of life in Romulus... his hard work, commitment to community service, and leadership" which have been "an inspiration to all who have witnessed his good deeds..."

In the photos above, Lovette's daughter, (from left) the attractive Phyllis Elrod offers a few words of praise and thanks of behalf of her father, while City Treasurer John Lewkowicz congratulates Lovette and presents the awards' recipient with a Resolution from the House of Representatives offered by State Representative Edward Mahalak.

In the other two photos, Bill Cox, representing the Romulus Rotary Club presents a plaque to Lovette and finally, the former Lieutenant Colonel and his wife lead in the first dance of the evening.

There were also honors bestowed upon Lovette from Congressman William Ford, Mayor Beverly McAnally, Leo Kalota, President of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce, Captain Joseph Prather, who served with the Lieutenant Colonel in Europe during World War II and Freeman Moore.

Moore, principal at Ecorse High School extended congratulations from the school district and noted that "Mr. Lovette served as the school district's first black principal."

"The City of Romulus is proud to have a citizen, with high qualities as Jason Lovette," said Kalota, "He has served his country, state, city and business associates so well and it is with great pride that the Romulus Chamber of Commerce announces that Mr. Jason Lovette selection as 1984 Romulus Person of the Year."

Council creates community affairs director position

With councilman Barry Baumann casting the lone "no" vote, City Council last week approved the transfer of funds, setting the machinery in motion to create and hire a community affairs director.

The motion to transfer was offered by councilman Alan Lambert and supported by Pete Bergeron. It gained support from councilmen Jimmie Raspberry, Fred Junior Block, Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks and William Wadsworth.

Baumann explained his vote by pointing out that he was not against the position, but the way the council went about the issue.

Dennis Davidson. He is expected to receive the administration and the council's approval to carry on the job. The salary for the position presently is $20,400.

"Mr. Davidson will be responsible for both positions," said Mayor Beverly McAnally, "until such time that we can find a qualified person to fill the vacancy of Director of Parks and Recreation."

"One of the key responsibilities of the Community Affairs Director will be to provide a positive image for the community through the mass media and will also become a close liaison with business, industry and the administration," McAnally said.

$1,000 reward is offered for murderer

Inkster police are asking citizens' assistance in solving the murder of a 30-year-old Dearborn man who was slain in the parking lot of a local movie house.

The victim, Thomas Charles Furman, of Dearborn died of gunshot wound to the head about 8 p.m., Dec. 16, 1983.

"Furman may have been a victim of a robbery attempt," said Inspector Charles Pilch of the Inkster Police Department, "however, his wallet was found intact in his pocket. Our detectives investigating the murder have no clues or suspects at this time.

"We are asking anyone who saw anything to step forward and help us solve this case," Pilch added.

A reward of $1,000 is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the murder.

Anyone who has any information is urged to contact Det. Charles Given of the Inkster Police Department. Givens may be reached at 561-4510.

Inspector Pilch also said that the city is linked with a unique nationwide program called "WeTip," an acronym for "We Tip/Eyewitness Anonymous program." The program is aimed at aiding local law enforcement officers in obtaining anonymous information concerning a crime that was recently committed in the local area.

The "WeTIP" number is 1-800-73 CRIME.

The program combines the resources of the law enforcement agencies, news media, citizens participation to fight crime and criminal elements in communities.

The program guarantees anonymity and assigns code numbers and in reward cases, code names and will pay rewards, upon convictions through postmasters, up to $500, depending on the importance of the crime and the amount of information given.

The program works this way:

* Call the WeTIP number (1-800-73-CRIME), which has an operator available 24 hours. Do not give your name. A code name and number will be assigned to the caller.

* The WeTIP operator will take the information and pass it on to the appropriate law officers who then conduct their own investigation.

* If your information results in an arrest and conviction, you will be given up to $500 in cash, depending upon the importance of the crime solved. Again, the caller will not give your name. Your identity will never be known.

Van Buren OKs tax break

By EVE SILBERMAN
ANP Staff Writer

A 12-year tax abatement for Thunderline Corporation, an automotive parts supplier which will relocate part of its operations to Van Buren Township, was recently approved by township trustees.

The action marked only the second time the township has granted a tax break to stimulate businesses to relocate in the township, according to Township Treasurer Donna Hall. "This makes a lot of sense," the treasurer said of the February 14 vote. "Thunderline will be in the area a long time and will hire from Van Buren."

Thunderline is constructing a $2.5 million, 25,000-square foot facility in an industrial development area east of Haggerty Road, and west of I-275. Beginning in May, the company will be moving its corporate headquarters and part of its manufacturing operations from Wayne, said Thunderline Vice-President Bob Gigniac.

The abatement, which now must be approved by the state, means that the company will pay only 50 percent of its property taxes over the next 12 years. (The tax is figured out by multiplying the state equalized valuation times the township millage rate.)

Gigniac said that the company would not have relocated to Van Buren without the tax break. Location in an industrial park near a community cooperative to new industry were among other considerations, he said.

About 25 of the company's 160 employees will be transferred to Van Buren, the Thunderline vice-president said. "Others will be hired from the area as the need develops," Gigniac said.

"I'm not in favor of abatements, as a rule. But this does give a message to manufacturers that we're interested in creating a good business climate."

— George Craven
Supervisor

noting that 100 new jobs may be created.

Thunderline is a major supplier of rubber and plastic molding used for automotive manufacturing. The company also manufactures Link-Seal, used in the manufacturing of construction equipment.

The company will take its place among the "middle-sized" businesses in the area, said Hall. But she emphasized that the business may have a "magnet" effect in attracting other firms into the industrial park. Also in the industrial area, north of Thunderline, is a Coca-Cola bottling plant which opened its doors last summer.

Huron Valley Steel, located on Huron River Drive, is the only previous recipient of a township-approved tax abatement, said Hall.

Voting in support of the tax break were Hall, Clerk Delphine Dudick, and trustees Marilyn Montgomery and Jerry Maton. Supervisor George Craven was absent, as were trustees Thurston Jahr and Darwin Kureth.

Craven said earlier that he supported the tax break, despite some "mixed feelings."

"I'm not in favor of abatements, as a rule," he said. "But this does give a message to manufacturers that we're interested in creating a good business climate."

Construction of Thunderline's new headquarters is nearing completion, according to Gigniac. "The exterior is completed, and now the interior is being constructed," he said.

Thunderline will take up five acres of the 35 acre industrial park, under development by Robert DeMattia. Thunderline has pledged $5,000 and DeMattia $10,000 toward the paving of nearby Tyler Road.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
By John Brimble

Make your own herb vinegar. Use 3 tbs. fresh herbs to one quart cider or white vinegar. Place herbs in a sterilized container, and add vinegar that's been brought to a boil. Let steep on a windowsill for three weeks.

Main-course salad combines leftover roast beef with budget-stretching rice. Add sliced celery and green onions; season mayonnaise binding with horseradish and mustard.

Cookie dough won't spread so much if you cool the cookie sheets between batches.

Brown sugar doesn't exist in nature. It's really a combination of molasses and white sugar. If you find a box of brown sugar cakes before you use it up, it may pay to make your own of 2 tbs. molasses to 1/2 cup white sugar.

In quest of employment

There is more than one way to land job

The most important thing to know about finding a job is where to look. Most people check the want ads and count on them as their only source of information. Unfortunately, only 15-20 percent of job openings are advertised this way. The smart job searcher will maximize his options through a variety of job information sources.

One of the best ways to locate a job opening is by word-of-mouth. The first step is to tell everybody that you are in the market. Friends, neighbors, and family members might have connections or at least be able to keep their eyes open.

Many jobs have been found by Aunt Martha being there when the "help wanted" sign was put up. School teachers, counselors, classmates, bowling buddies, and others might help as well.

Professional acquaintances are a good source. Your minister, church leaders, lawyer, physician, dentist, insurance agent, and others might also keep their eyes open for you. Community clubs or association can be a valuable source of job information. Any organization you belong to can become a job-search network. Scout leaders, Mooses, bridge players, or members of the gardening club might hear about something and pass it on to you.

If you have a specific type of job in mind, go through your yellow pages. If you want to sell boats, look up all the boat dealers in your area and contact them. If transportation is a problem, many listings are by area.

Other sources include the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESOC) Job Service, private employment agencies, temporary help agencies, professional trade associations, chambers of commerce, city halls, union halls, and the civil service commission. Placement services are offered through most colleges, adult education centers, high schools, and many community outreach agencies.

Business, trade, and technical journals often list job openings in particular fields. You might also investigate business directories. Examples include Standard and Poor's Register of Corporations, Directories, and Executives and the Dun and Bradstreet Reference Book of Corporate Managements.

With all this in mind, those want ads can still help. Buy different newspapers including the small local tabloids and the big dailies. Sunday editions usually have the most ads.

Of course, the best way of all to find a job is to go look. Walk in and ask to apply. Leaving a trail of applications is like planting seeds — some may sprout later. Do not be afraid to call back for a follow-up. Your application might be moving toward the bottom of the pile.

Make a good impression. Start first thing in the morning and make the best use of weekdays. The person who gets up and starts looking at noon each day might get there three hours after you have been hired.

"Extension Job Tips" is prepared by the staff of the Extension Job Training Program. The program offers free training and placement services for low-income or handicapped 16 to 21 year olds who live in Western Wayne County. For more information, call 721-6578.

Extra sausage at reasonable cost. Adults $3, students, 5-12 and senior citizens $1.75; preschool 5 and under $1.25.

BELLEVILLE... Rawsonville School will hold its annual Ice Cream Social on Wednesday, February 29, 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

During the event a school-wide Educational Fair will be in progress, an auction with a variety of goods and services donated by area business.

There is live entertainment. Sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Action Group, the community is invited.

BELLEVILLE The Tri-County Democratic Club will meet at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 22, at Belle Plaza Hall, 859 Sumpter Rd., Belleville.

Speaker will be Orville Tugate, Deputy County Clerk who will discuss voting machines and procedures.

Questions on all phases of voting will be answered.

BELLEVILLE... September Days Senior Citizens will go "Out for Dinner" on Wednesday, February 29 to the beautiful Sibley Gardens, Trenton.

Transportation is $3, dinner on your own. Call Olga at 699-8919 for reservations.

YWCA offers nursery classes

Are you considering pre-school for your child? The YWCA Oakbrook Nursery now has a few openings for 3-5 year olds.

Oakbrook Nursery, a co-op nursery, is located at 30521 Elm Lane, Romulus, near Eureka and Midlebelt. The pre-school program, taught by Marilyn Garner of Romulus, meets from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Monday and Wednesday mornings.

Enrollment is open to all children of YWCA members.

For further information, contact Debba Yeager, Chairman, 942-0557 or Pamela Cronenwett, Area Director, at the YWCA of Western Wayne County, 561-4110.

DAZZLING DAIRY DAY VALUES AT YOUR SPARTAN STORE

what's that sound?
... by steve o'leary

First date

"Jazz At The Philharmonic"
(Verve)

These ten albums, all reissued with a very low price tag (about $4.99 each), are without a doubt the best thing to happen to old jazz buffs (that's old jazz, not necessarily old buffs) in years.

While purists and elitists may argue that Norman Granz' JATP Revue was nothing more than musicians showboating for dollars year after year, those of us who prefer not to have their listening pleasure explained to them ("it's wild how the progressions are reversed from a diminished minor etc.,") can simply revel in the music here.

Included in the volumes are jam sessions, individual performances and challenges, where two or more people on the same instrument would take turns trying to top each other. One volume — "The Ella Fitzgerald Set" — is set aside for those who prefer some singing with their music. And, of course, no one did it better than Ella (and this is her, not memorex).

While both Charlie "Bird" Parker and Lester "Pres" Young have recorded much hotter material, the performances on the fifth volume of the series "Bird and Pres — Carnegie Hall 1949" certainly make it worth having, and as pure listening pleasure I'd give it at least a 9 and-a-half.

One volume, titled "The Challenges," features a ballad medley with Roy Eldridge doing "The Man I Love," Ben Webster with "Tenderly," Bill Harris with "Imagination," and Flip Phillips's "I'll Never Be The Same" all being blown away by a tremendous "Stardust" featuring Dizzy Gillespie.

Gillespie's tone and feel here is as smooth as anything I've ever heard the man do (preferring his slower material to his later Cuban-bent bop), and it's no wonder the crowd cheers as wildly as they do at the tune's conclusion.

Dizzy is featured on another of the series' best LP's, this one called "Blues In Chicago-1955," together with fellow trumpeteer Roy Eldridge he blows a mean sounding blues jam, and with Lester Young he duets nicely on "The Modern Set." Another ballad medley is featured here, this time with Young's "I Didn't Know What Time It Was" coming through as the resounding winner.

The price is more than reasonable for a front-row seat at Jazz At The Philharmonic, which toured the world (yes, even including Detroit annually) to sold-out houses everywhere. The best musicians in American jazz are present, Bird, Dizzy, Young, Benny Carter, Buddy Rich and Gene Krupa (on "The Drum Battles") among others. Buy one or buy them all (I'd suggest "Bird & Press" and "Blues in Chicago" first).

May I have this dance?

More than 400 fathers and their daughters enjoyed an evening of square dancing last week as part of Daddy Daughter Date Nite festivities at the Wayne Community Center. Among the participants were Frank Dorado and his daughters, Stacy, 7 and Nicole, 5. The fourth annual event, sponsored by the parks and recreation department, also featured refreshments and a gift for the daughters.

CYNTHIA MULAR — WILLIAM CICHOWSKI

Mular-Cichowski

Cynthia Ann Mular, the daughter of Edward and Mildred Mular of Glenwood Street in Wayne, will marry William Brian Cichowski, the son of John and Ilene Shaffer of Merri-man Road in Romulus March 30.

The bride-elect is a 1977 graduate of Wayne Memorial High School and is presently employed as a mail carrier at the Northville Post Office.

The prospective groom is a 1978 graduate of Huron High School in New Boston and is presently employed by Regal Packing in Detroit.

The newlyweds plan to make their home in Westland.

While the faces seem familiar, the names won't be the same. Take a look at our two future brides this week and they may seem to be the same ones featured on the front of our special bridal section last week — they are and then again, they aren't.

Due to an error (Gremlins at our production facility, we think) the names on the photos were not only switched, making Miss Burcroff Miss Mular and turning Allan DeKoninck into William Cichowski, but misspelled as well.

While all the young people involved were most understanding about the error, it seems only proper that we

Burcroff DeKoninck

Susan L. Burcroff and Allan E. DeKoninck have chosen June 9 as their wedding day.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Burcroff of Romulus. She is a 1974 graduate of Romulus High School and earned her degree at Michigan State University. She is presently employed as a teacher at Eaton Rapids Christian School. She is actively involved at East Lansing Trinity Church and served as a missionary teacher in Bolivia in 1982-83.

Her prospective groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald DeKoninck of Laingsburg, Mich. He is a graduate of Lansing Community College and is presently employed as a senior programmer analyst at Farm Bureau Insurance. He has taught at Lansing Community College and is a member of Grand Ledge Baptist Church.

Harold

A few weeks ago now, a man who cared died.

He left behind a legacy of accomplishments, a number of friends and innumerable acquaintances, some of whom harbor real regrets. Like me, for instance.

Harold Rediske and I were in Wayne Rotary together for years, just as he was a Rotarian with my Dad, Wes, before me. I know his son, Harold Jr., as well. Young Harold and I graduated from high school together. Harold Sr. was the treasurer of our church, my neighbor, and the man who buried my father, brother-in-law and grandmother.

I liked Harold a lot. I don't think, however, that he always liked me. For instance, there was the time I decided to build an addition to my house. Well, Harold was upset about an entirely different neighborhood matter. He didn't like the profusion of recreational vehicles parked up and down the block. He felt that campers had no place there, including my mini-motor home holding court in the driveway. He was right about that one.

But Harold came at me about my building addition. We got through it, and Harold finally admitted he hadn't been telling me what he was really concerned about. But, somehow, things just weren't the same after that.

Then there was the parsonage next door. I helped engineer the plan to build our parsonage on property owned by the church next to Harold's home, and later a plan to buy the former Wayne Bank building for the use of United Methodist Church.

I don't think Harold liked having his minister, as fantastic a man as Charles Jacobs is, sitting next door taking note of every party. Harold was also convinced that the bank deal with the church would never be consummated. Well, it has. He was wrong about that one.

Recently at a Rotary party, Harold was in good cheer talking to me and others about a business deal. I don't think any of us were too serious, but it was great fun, and I felt better having had the conversation.

For those of you who didn't know him, Harold was a tall, husky, good-looking man. He seemed to live with a great sense of humor. He'd had his share of good fortune, and bad.

Uht Funeral Home, owned by Harold, was a financial success. Through his business he married his love of flying to his profession and created a service that helped to take the pain and inconvenience out of the trauma of death for families all over western Wayne County. His love of flying eventually cost him most of his ability to hear and, sadly, he had to give up soaring.

He loved kids, his many friends, and most of all, I think, his family.

His sudden unexpected death was a shock and a loss for us all. He drove himself to the hospital, strolled in like a wounded John Wayne coming in to the town "Doc" on his horse. He walked in, had a heart attack, and then left us forever.

His death makes me cry. Who will care for the many he helped, for those he always cared for. I guess I identify with Harold Jr.'s loss and feel the ache again I felt when my father died.

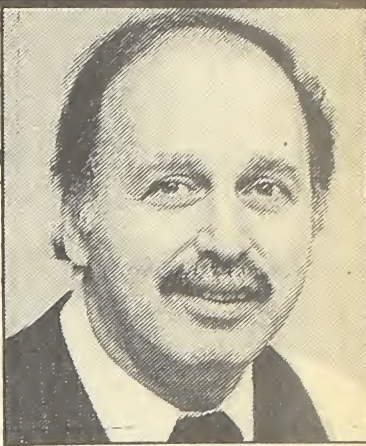

Harold Rediske, we didn't always agree, but you were liked and respected and will be sincerely missed.

Young Harold is left to carry on. What shoes he has to fill, and what pain he must feel.

But Harold Sr. left a road map imprinted on minds as to what works and what doesn't, in life and in business. He trained many well. The world will not be the same without him, but it will certainly be better because he was here. I cared about you, Harold, but I never told you, and I regret that.

Good bye, my friend.

A real hero

Life has been cruel to 41-year-old John Berrington, but he vows he will not waste the hours or the days or the years he may have left.

And one can understand if he had been embittered by what occurred in that fateful year — that July of 1977 when a swimming trip turned into a tragedy that changed his entire life.

The trauma left its scars, lost him the use of his body...his family and his wife.

A less brave man probably would curse life and all associated with it.

But, the former athlete is an extraordinary person. He's a "fighter," friends say.

Berrington's life changed dramatically in July of 1977 when he dove into the shallow water at Houghton Lake. Rushed to the hospital, doctors determined that John had broken his neck, leaving him a paraplegic.

He was 37 years old at the time of the accident and he would spend the next three months on a breathing machine at the hospital. Clinging to life, Berrington managed to survive the ordeal and was moved to the "Craig Rehabilitation" Center in Denver where he spent the next three months of his life.

An outstanding athlete prior to the accident, Berrington was one of the founders of the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey League. One of the divisions in the league boasts his name. The league also established a "Berrington Award" to the player who exemplifies... "leadership and sportsmanship" as personified by Berrington. Among the recipients are: Norm Hankala, Jerry Grube, Ron Hays, Jerry Robertson, Guy Moise, Ed Spontack and John Flemming.

"John used to enjoy getting out to watch the Over 30 hockey games and going to softball games," notes Spontack. "However, due to the poor condition of his wheelchair he can't do that now. His only means of getting out is when friends take him to Bloomfield Christian Church on Sundays."

His personal despair was compounded last year when his wife divorced him. Two of his three daughters have left. A 19-year-old daughter lives with him. Since his wife left him, John is without any health insurance and must now rely on Medicare. A friend, Bob Reese, has moved in to help care for him.

Although life has clenched its fist upon Berrington's body, he remains optimistic and positive. "I can't express my appreciation enough," he says. "I want to thank everyone for all the help they have given me."

And Berrington's friends are rallying beside him again. They want to raise enough funds to purchase a new wheelchair. A Berrington Fund Raiser Raffle is scheduled for April 7 (deadline to purchase raffle tickets is March 11) and all funds will go toward the purchase of the wheelchair.

Donations to the fund may be made, by check, and mailed to: Berrington Fund Raiser, C/O Ed Spontack, 711 S. Hawthorne, Westland, Michigan, 48185. Further information may also be obtained by telephoning 728-2657.

"We meet a lot of people in our lives," Spontack said, "but there are only a few who can say they are as brave as John Berrington. "I feel as though I have known John for a long time, but it's been only five years."

"I hope our efforts can bring a little comfort in his life."

reflections

This is the story of Ricky . . . a boy who has lived 20 years, yet has only attained an age of 12. They say that Ricky is retarded . . . and yet . . . well, let me tell you about him.

The sun breaks out and shines on one when Ricky smiles. He stands tall and straight and his athletic body testifies to the years he has been winning ribbons and trophies in the "Handicap Olympics." Ricky swims like a fish, loves to run and ride his bicycle . . . the bicycle that is his because of his perseverance.

Ricky had long longed for a bike, and then came the announcement that with so many Pepsi-Cola caps (with the proper message) one could win a bicycle. Ricky scrounged the neighborhood . . . walking up and down the sidewalks, through the alleys, around bushes and trees, until he had found enough Pepsi-Cola caps to win himself the bicycle. What glory! What happiness!

Ricky goes to a special education school and when he comes home he hurries out to the alleys and finds treasures . . . old toasters, old TV sets and old radios. He tucks them under his arm and goes home to the garage where he fixes them. For even though Ricky cannot read nor write, he can put a TV back into working order. His agile fingers can fix things, and once he has them in working order, he opens up his garage for a mammoth garage sale. Ricky earns about $35 each summer with his work.

This is what Ricky was doing one warm evening last week . . . sitting in the garage working away at one of his finds, when seven boys from the neighborhood zipped up the driveway and zapped him with "Look at the Retard!" "What is the Retard doing?" and other loud and obnoxious callings.

Ricky stolidly went on working. That is, until one boy put his face down next to Ricky's and snarled, "Whatcha doin', Retard?" And Ricky reached out one long arm and slapped the kid across the face.

In the way of bullies, the kid went bawling home, followed by his six friends. The mother called the police — and now Ricky must go to court, with his mother and father, to be accused of being a danger to the neighborhood kids.

But Ricky has never played with the neighborhood kids. Ricky was in his parent's garage, tending to his own business, and was verbally abused by seven kids who had never been taught that one deals gently and compassionately with those who are different.

But is Ricky all that different? His mind is that of a 12-year old, and what 12-year old could stand taunting and teasing without fighting back? To accept and turn the other cheek is a sign of maturity. How does one judge maturity? How does one grow into maturity?

How can a boy of 12 in a 20-year old body grow wise enough that he does not react to taunting and teasing and other verbal abuse?

Ricky is aware that he has to go to court. He is ashamed and upset that they will fingerprint him. He knows that by slapping the taunting kid, he has made his mother unhappy and very sad.

Joyce Hagelthorn

And he loves his mother.

The other evening he stood beside her as she put away the dinner dishes. His eyes were full of worry and his face was troubled.

"Mom," the word burst from him. "Mom . . . WHY do I have to be retarded?"

Why, indeed?

Since I've never been entirely comfortable with leaving loose ends, let me just take a moment to tie this one up:

This column will be my last on these pages, and I wanted a chance to say "good-bye".

What a terrific time I've had, these three-plus years I've been writing this column. And what a slew of great friends I've made! So many of you took time away from your busy lives to write me letters of encouragement and of love. Some of you took time to chastise me over something I wrote that you couldn't agree with (but you did it kindly — always kindly).

And some of you, when you met me somewhere, wanted me to write about something near and dear to your hearts. I almost never did, and it's only fair to tell you why.

Unless it was a subject near and dear to my own heart, I couldn't work up enough feeling to put the words together. A writer — especially a writer of an opinion piece (which is what a column is) — has to have great feeling for what she writes.

Whether it was anger I felt, or disappointment, or amusement, or joy — it had to be my anger,

Goodbye and thanks

my joy. My opinion, in order to be credible, had to be mine and mine alone. And it was — every inch of the way. For that, I take full responsibility — or blame.

I want to thank all of you who consistently found the time to answer my questions whenever there was something I needed to know. As a card-carrying, oath-taking, full-time procrastinator, I always managed to need the information five minutes ago. And you — every one of you — always managed to come through for

There is a singular "thank you" in order here, and that goes to my friend and editor, Tom Mooradian.

Tom took me on as a columnist when I had no business being a columnist. I was barely even a writer back then, as is so painfully evidenced by the re-reading of my early columns.

Still, he allowed me the freedom to practice my craft at his (and more often the reader's) expense. He never balked at anything I offered. He allowed me to grope and grow — to take chances and make mistakes — and to ultimately expand my thinking and clarify my writing. I couldn't have done that without this forum, and for that I'm grateful.

This column has allowed me to expand into other areas of writing, as well. I've been writing articles for daily newspapers and for magazines, and that's another kind of fun.

I've found the courage to speak before groups, to lecture before creative writing students in high school and college classes, and, last fall, I conducted a workshop on writing a column at the Oakland University Writer's Conference.

Without this column — and Mooradian's encouragement — I never would have done any of those things. What a great gift this has been. I'm going to miss it — and all of you — but, as one of my favorite columnists, Jim Fitzgerald, so aptly puts it — Onward and Upward.

EDITOR — If possible, can The Associated Newspapers publish the following letter which is directed to E.L. Sheffield, principal at Romulus High? We feel an injustice has been committed toward the high school's excellent wrestling team and the wrestlers.

Here is the letter:

E.L. Sheffield

I am one of the captains of the wrestling team at Romulus High School, and I am writing concerning your latest bulletin enclosed with the semester report cards, entitled "Did You Know."

In this bulletin you mentioned our fine volleyball, girl's basketball, and boy's basketball teams and their outstanding achievements. Yet you neglected to mention the wrestling team, which has brought this school district six team trophies this season.

Did you know that we have beaten two state-ranked teams this season, Birmingham Brother Rice (11th) and Westland John Glenn (15th)?

We have placed in the top five at every tournament we have participated in; have been team champions three times, runners-up twice, and we took third (and a trophy) at the 24-team Trenton Invitational.

We have finished our fine season with a 12-4-1 record, with hopes of sending a few wrestlers to the State Tournaments. We do not understand how all of these achievements could have been overlooked. We have worked very hard this season and feel we deserve recognition.

Cards dealt no trump

EDITOR — I am amazed and appalled at the attitude of Mr. and Mrs. Card who last week wrote the letter condemning the League of Women Voters for soliciting funds from local business people.

Apparently these believers in free enterprise don't believe in the freedom of opinions contrary to theirs or the Canton Chamber.

Can you believe that two years after they won their battle for bigger signs, McDonald's and others are so shallow not to support a project promoting community identity just because of its sponsor?

Well, if that's their style maybe we should boycott McDonalds. Aren't you hungry?

Is Hendricks 'ego tripping'?

EDITOR — We feel that the City of Inkster has again wasted valuable tax dollars.

Council has no intention of "Cleaning up their act" or have the decency to want a fair and aboveboard manner of conducting city business. This has been displayed by Councilman Hendricks, since he made no mention of the Thursday Council Meeting. The meeting was for the purpose of perfecting the profile and finalizing the exact wording of the ad and deciding just what qualities will be expected of the new city manager.

Maybe Mr. Hendricks thinks there is no Inkster resident or taxpayer, who would understand any of the qualifications he should possess. There are strong indications that the previous four city managers did not possess all of the qualifications that are now being asked such as previous experience as a city manager. We must not forget Mr. Wylie Williams contract for one year was not reviewed by the entire council and was signed by only the ex-mayor, Terrel LeCesne, and Mr. W. Williams.

However, the city did pay for the packing and moving expense for Mr. Williams, and the moving of himself and his family, and his personal property from Charlotte, North Carolina to Inkster. Will we again pay these expenses for a city manager who may stay as long as it will take for him to apply for another job after getting his training here, as all of the other four have done.

Councilman Hendricks claims Mr. Williams resignation was not voluntary, but Mr. Williams had accepted a new job and December 19 in a letter stating the purpose of this letter was to submit his resignation as City Manager for the City of Inkster effective Jan. 6, 1984.

This fact was also stated in a ICMA Newsletter dated Dec. 26.

Also, such notice was not the 45 days notice Mr. Williams was required to give the City of Inkster as so stated by his contract.

So in view of these facts it seems Mr. Hendricks doesn't know the difference between voluntary and involuntary and this being so, probably is the reason why Mr. Hendricks and "the majority of his colleagues", voted to pay Mr. Williams severance pay.

If we review the last four city managers (excusing Mr. Wylie Williams,) that we have trained you will find that only one was terminated, Mr. David Williams and subsequently was paid severance pay. We have studied the salaries of the last four city managers and the only one whose salary was somewhere near Mr. W. Williams salary was the one that was terminated, and did not possess half of the qualifications that are being asked for now. Another point in mind: our population has steadily decreased over the years, city services have continuously decreased and since 1979 police protection is down to the point it's almost equally the same fear for being in your home day or night, due to the decrease in the number of patrolmen. Even worse for that same period is the 12 percent increase in our city taxes.

payers in general have no right to question reasons on issues. Accept whatever is said (like his statement that our money was the property of the school boards).

Mr. Hendricks express no desire for the residents of Inkster to work with him or "his majority of his colleagues", what-so-ever. But, Mr. Hendricks and the majority of his colleagues will find out we the concerned citizens of Inkster will no longer roll over on issues.

So if you, Mr. Hendricks, intend to improve your act and advance Inkster, consider these "facts", stop telling us the residents it can't be done because of the money shortage, but at the same time you and your "city manager", can spend tax dollars at your whim and without any gain or improvement.

It would be nice if Mr. Hendricks could settle down to practice good judgment, good politics, and government for the people and by the people. I hope this continuously defending past mistakes and actions, will cease and is not an indication of "ego tripping".

Thanks offered to Democrats

LETTERS — We would like to thank the Metro Wayne Democratic Club and specifically Mr. Cliff Johnson and Bob Smith for the many services the club and these fine gentlemen have supplied. The club has brought us food when we needed it because we have no car or any other kind of transportation.

The club and its members are always there to lend a helping hand. I know of literally hundreds of people who have received aid from these people in the Wayne-Westland areas. Again, thank you and keep up the great work.

I'm not a person to complain.

I am, however, a person who loves the truth. And I'm going to share a little bit of truth with you about banks. Actually, it's a truth about banks and a certain young man, so I guess it's two truths.

Let's set the mood first. In your mind conjure up the best of those banking commercials that promise you everything, even a free set of steak knives, for opening an account with such and such bank. You know, the ones that promise you everything but the armored car escort service.

Enter one teen-ager, first paycheck in hand. Ready, willing and eager to hand his hard earned loot over to the safe keeping of a Savings and Loan that will remain unnamed to protect the guilty. He approaches the assistant manager, bold, confident, a young man in control of his destiny, not to mention his money.

"Yes, he would like a passbook savings account. Yes, he would like to deposit a portion of his check to open it up. Yes, his mother will be a co-signer." His eagerness heightens. He can already see the interest piling up. By next year he'll be on his way to attaining millionaire status, strictly on the accumulated interest.

Ah, the paperwork is almost complete. He's already started memorizing his account number. The atmosphere is nearly electrifying. Then the assistant manager pulls the plug. Sure, he can open a savings account . . . gladly . . . However, it's a new account, and because the payroll check is not a familiar one (who could mistake where it's from. Everyone knows which restaurant the little guy with the slicked-down hair and checkered pants represents) the entire check will have to be deposited . . . and there will be a five-day hold on the funds.

And because it's a new account, all checks for the next three months will be treated the same way. Confused, bewildered, the young man turns to his co-signer. What's a teen-ager to do? Why, the equally confused co-signer asks, is that necessary for a payroll check?" "It's the S & L's policy."

sue mcdonald speaking

Truth in lending

Check in hand, he stomps (this teen-ager hasn't yet mastered the art of storming) out, his check clutched in his hand. The car shakes with the force of his slamming of its door (slamming a self-closing bank door just doesn't have the same effect). It's off to the competition.

There, he's directed to a teller, after assurances there would be no hold on his money. The eagerness has started to return. Maybe there is someplace in this world that is interested in his money.

Fingers flutter as the paperwork nears completion. "Yes, there'll be a co-signer. Yes, she's present. Yes, I have identification. No, I don't have a driver's license. Yes, my co-signer has a license."

He's started memorizing the account number. His palms are getting sweaty in anticipation of feeling the cash total of 20 hours of busing tables touch them. "Yes, I'm making a deposit . . . $10."

It's almost ecstasy. Responsibility is heady stuff, so is a new pair of high top tennis shoes that the money is going to finance as soon as he walks out the door.

"No, I really don't want to deposit $25; I want to buy my new pair of sneakers. I have to pay a $1.25 service charge per month? . . . On a savings account? What? My mother can't be my co-signer? No adult can co-sign on a minor's savings account? Only on a trust account? It's a federal law?" Confused and bewildered again he turns to his co-signer. What's a teen-ager to do?

He's learning fast . . . when annoyed make a fuss. "The bank down the street allowed it." The implication is clear, but they need not know about the things it wouldn't allow. A hushed conference, and it's approved . . . "just this once."

He gets his pass book — a plastic folder and tally sheet for him to keep track of his deposits. A statement will come every three months. He gets an identification card . . . a must if he hopes to do anything with his savings.

At last, the cold hard cash is in his hands. No digital clock, pocket calculator or a set of steak knives. The teller showed great wisdom in not parting with the latter. Even though this teen-ager has his Boy Scout Totem Chip card (authorization to carry a knife on outings), there's no telling what he would have done with the cutlery. The glint in his eyes, though, gave some indication of what he was thinking.

Ah, Mike, you've learned the first fact of life as a young man. Truths aren't always what they appear to be, especially in high finance.

Till we meet again

Dribbling past one of Glenn's defenders is Wayne Memorial's prolific scorer, Keith Strickland (34) who helped the Zebras defeat their natural rivals earlier this month. The two arch foes could meet again if the luck of the draw permits at the Class A district playoffs scheduled for the first week of March at Plymouth Salem High School.

Ypsi's full-court press too much for Romulus

When you're mentally not ready to play, it will cost you. Romulus cagers learned that lesson last week when they clashed with a highly-regarded and traditionally strong Ypsilanti quintet which stopped Coach Al Wilkerson's club, 71-64.

The loss left the Eagles with a 13-4 over-all record on the year. "Our mind just wasn't on the game," said Wilkerson, who added that his team had worked had all week in preparation for the test "but, when the lights came on, it just didn't happen. We didn't do what we were supposed to do."

Romulus had problems penetrating Ypsi's defense and also struggled against the Braves's full-court press which caused the local cagers to commit 24 turnovers.

"We weren't ready to play," reiterated Wilkerson who vowed that, "we will be ready for them the next time we meet."

Romulus may have an opportunity to avenge the loss at the Class A District Championships. Both teams are scheduled to see action in the district hosted by Bedford Temperance.

Wilkerson and his Eagles will travel to Bedford Friday night to get a glance at Bedford in a non-league game. "Bedford always has decent teams. It will give our players an opportunity to play there and also get a feel of what they can expect in March."

Tuesday, the Eagles have a rematch with New Boston Huron and will wrap up the regular phase of the season a week from Friday when they host Cherry Hill.

A Belleville High transfer, Michael Mellon, figured prominently in Ypsilanti's victory over Romulus. Mellon drilled in 10 field goals and made one of three at the foul line for his team's high of 21 points. He got eight of those 21 in the first period, while 6-8 sophomore Terry Mills sank five of his game high 26 points in that period to keep pace for Romulus.

Trailing 13-10 at the end of the initial quarter, Romulus fell further behind when Ypsi returned a pair of easy but missed layups they came back and scored on. Ypsi also used three consecutive turnovers to their advantages to increase their lead to 32-24 at the intermission.

It could have been worst for Romulus if Terry Roache had not come alive and contributed eight

Romulus wrestlers 3rd at Bedford

Wayne wins district title

With Wayne Memorial winning it at Trenton and Romulus placing its best ever in district competitions, area wrestlers fared well in Class A District Wrestling Championships staged over the weekend.

Wayne amassed 144½ points and garnered three gold medals, while natural rival, Westland John Glenn picked up one gold and finished second at the 18-team district tournament hosted by Trenton High School.

In the meantime, Romulus finished third behind host and defending Class A state champ, Temperance Bedford, and runner-up Plymouth Canton at the Bedford district.

The top four individual finishers in each weight class qualified for regional competition scheduled for Saturday. Most of the local qualifiers will compete at Trenton High.

Wayne Memorial's Dave Davis struck gold in the 105-pound class when he turned back Westland John Glenn's Rick Gillies, while the Westlanders collected their only gold medal of the evening when Dan Gibson decided Livonia Bentley's Anwar Yaffai in the 112-pound category.

Wayne also had a district champ in 132-pounder Tim Mitchel who also met and defeated neighborhood rival, Dan Schimanski, of John Glenn fame.

Wayne wrapped up its final gold thanks to the efforts of its 145-pounder, Jim Ertman, who took on and defeated Eric Johnson.

Wayne also qualified for the regional: Richard Malta who finished with a silver in the 98-pound class; Ed Fowler, also a second place finisher, but in the 126-pound class; Dave Shareef, who was fourth at 138 and Todd Schreve, who won the consolidation round in the 167-pound class for a third place medal.

John Glenn will also be represented at the Trenton regional with Kurt Potulski, who finished fourth in the unlimited category;

Gillies, the runner-up at 105; Mike Rossi, a second place finisher at 119; Schimanski, a silver medalist at 132; Scott Lucas, who placed third at 155 and Vaughn Viar, who wound up fourth at 185.

Romulus's Chuck Wilson posted a stunning victory at Temperance when he managed to stop Plymouth Salem's Rick Vershove, 8-4, in the championship round. The 119-pound senior was one of four wrestlers who qualified for the Eagles to compete in the Trenton regional.

Romulus will also take heavyweight Tracy Cline, who finished second; 98-pounder John Burcroff, also a runner-up and John Montroy, who finished third in the 138-pound class.

Romulus Coach Wayne Schimming was pleased with his team's efforts at the district.

"Placing third is the highest we have ever come in the districts and when you consider that the state's defending champ, Bedford, and Canton, were the only two teams that finished ahead of us, you have to feel proud of your wrestlers. Qualifying four for the regionals is also one of our greatest accomplishments," Schimming added.

Glenn coach Tom Buckalew felt that the Trenton competition was tough. "I'm pleased with how my kids wrestled," Buckalew added, "and we're looking forward to the regionals."

Former Wayne Memorial all-around athlete, Shawn Boyer turned in his best performance of the indoor track season as he was clocked in 49.87 for the 400 meter Open at the Eastern Michigan Classic recently.

A middle distance specialist, Boyer is competing for the Spartans of Michigan State.

"With patience and hard work, Shawn will be a valuable performer for us," said Jim Bibbs, Spartan Head Coach.

Glenn claims 17th mat crown

Westland John Glenn, the defending Northwest Suburban Conference wrestling champ, managed to retain its crown, but Coach Tom Buckalew and his Rockets had to battle "right down to the wire" to pull it out.

The Westlanders garnered 195 points to beat out arch-rival, North Farmington, which had 175 points, to win the championship. Garden City wrestlers placed third (130), followed by Redford Union (119), Thurston (56½) and Livonia Franklin (44).

Stein lifts Glenn over Garden City in OT thriller, 65-64

In a game that featured more dramatics than a Fisher Theatre play, more comebacks than Muhammed Ali, and a story-book finish that can equal anything Hans Christian Anderson could write, the Rockets of Westland John Glenn upended the Garden City Cougars, 65-64 in overtime, to remain in first place in the Northwest Suburban League.

The Rockets overcame many obstacles thrown in their path — the Cougars' tenacious play, 34 points by Scott McCloskey, noisy Garden City fans — to claim their seventh league victory in eight tries. It also raised their overall record to 11-6.

Both Coach Gordie Davis and Assistant Coach Daran Armstrong were pleased with the victory.

Armstrong said: "It was the best total team effort of the season. In short, it was the game of the year."

If this was the game of the year, then next week's game against Thurston must be the game of the decade. Thurston trails the Rockets by one-game and needs a victory to pull even with the Rockets with one game remaining after next week.

"The championship is on the line," said Armstrong. "We'll have to have a total team effort."

Which is exactly what they got in this one, especially the fourth quarter. Glenn entered the final period trailing, 47-39, and it certainly didn't look good. The Cougars were running on all four paws. McCloskey, a definite All-League choice, scored nine points in the quarter, and got help from Steve Freier, who hit a pair of free throws to build the lead to 52-44 with 5:55 left.

The lead reached 13 points, 57-44, and the Cougars fans began celebrating and chanting, "We're Number One!"

"You're not sure if you're going to come out alive in this gym, especially when they're up by 13 points," said Armstrong.

Glenn lost its center, Mario Grazulis, to fouls with about two minutes to go. Earlier, they had lost Craig Thornton in the same manner. Things looked dark for the Rockets.

But off the bench came senior forward Todd Stein and junior forward Ron Taig and out the window went the Cougars' 13-point lead.

Garden City scored a basket with 2:40 left that gave them a 64-50 lead. Curiously, that was the last points they would score.

Led by guards Mike Baydarian and Jeff Hawley, the Rockets scored the last 14 points of the quarter to send it into overtime.

"They (the guards) didn't shoot very well for the game," said Armstrong, "but the pressure was on. They did the job they have done all year."

And did they!

Baydarian, who hit 24 on the evening, scored eight points and Hawley hit four. Hawley had 13 for the evening. Hawley's basket with one minute left brought the Rockets within two, 64-62, and Baydarian's bucket with :17 left tied it.

The Rockets' fans, who outnumbered the Garden City fans, went crazy. High-fives and low-fives were exchanged and even a few tears of joy were shed.

But they still had to prevent the buzzer ended regulation. Dashing through the minds of many was last year's memorable game on that very floor that ended when Bret Emery hit a 60-foot shot at the buzzer for a 73-71 Cougar victory.

Not this time. McCloskey's shot bounced off the rim, the buzzer sounded, and the overtime period began.

Glenn took control of the jump to start the extra 3-minute session and proceeded to run down the clock. Using Baydarian, Hawley, and Don Ward and the ballhandlers, the Rockets worked it to perfection. With :10 left, Baydarian passed to Stein at the basket, where he was fouled.

Stein stepped to the line. Glenn fans sat silent and Cougars fans cheered in order to distract the shooter. Clang! The first shot bounced off the rim. The Cougar fans screamed in delight. Swish! The second shot fell through the cords and the Glenn fans went wild.

It was ironic that Stein got he chance to win the game. A year ago, he was on the bench a victim of a hamstring injury suffered in football camp in 1982. But he stuck with the team and refused to give up. He came back this season to a reserve role but has responded well.

"He's a winner," said Armstrong. "He had to do it and he did it. Not only that, but he shut McCloskey down."

Garden City still had a chance to win it just as they had their chance earlier when they led 12-4 at the 5:00 mark of the first quarter or 30-28 at the half.

But it was Ron Taig who supplied the clincher to this victory. He stole the inbounds pass from a Cougar guard and dribbled out the remaining seconds on the clock.

"Ron did a great job coming off the bench," said Armstrong. "He tied people up and played well off the ball."

The Rockets celebrated at midcourt. The fans danced in the stands and hugged each other in victory, while across the court, the Cougars fans sat in stunned disbelief. They had seen their team lead throughout the contest, except for a few fleeting moments, and everything pointed toward a Cougar upset of the Rocket title express.

But it was not to be, at least on this night. As one observer said while exiting the blue-and-orange painted Cougars gym, "This was the greatest game I have ever been a part of."

Truer words were never spoken.

Earlier in the week, the Rockets soundly defeated an undermanned Belleville squad, 52-29, as Grazulis scored 18 points. Glenn never trailed and led, 17-5, after one quarter.

To catch Johnson's

Futurama misses its big chance

Opportunity, the adage states, knocks but once. And it did for Futurama in the Bonkowski Division of the Over 30 Wayne-Westland Hockey League.

Seated behind Johnson's Bakery in the standings, Futurama had an opportunity to force the frontrunner to hand over a share of the lead. It failed as the two natural rivals skated to a 3-all tie.

What may have been one of the most important games of the season for Futurama resulted in a tie with Johnson's Bakery. Futurama was one point behind Johnson's Bakery for the Bonkowski Division lead but remains behind after the tie. Three games remain the regular season play.

Futurama drew first blood against Johnson's by scoring two goals in the first two minutes of the game. But Johnson's came back to secure a 3-3 tie. Ron Tyranski, Gene Tauriainen and Jerry Bular scored for Futurama while Mile Truder, Dave Liezinski and Bob Capler picked up assists.

Ken Howe, Dave Frankling, and Ken Klinck accounted for Johnson's Bakery scoring. Rick Muller picked up two assists while Chuck Heebsh, Al Pulk and Jim McClure received one assist.

Family Heating scored twice in the final period to card a 5-3 win against Mic-Dago Pub. Ron Wojewski tallied twice and received two assists; Doug Hackman rattled the net for two goals and picked up one assist. Paul Cramer accounted for the remaining goal Ray Erickson and Nick Pause finished with two assists while Joe Sourup and John Ruggiero received one assist.

Mic-Dago Pub got on the scoreboard with goals scored by Ken Murray, Art Cazabon and Dave Jones. Picking up assists were Gary Pierce, Ray Sche-manske, Dave Cherry and Paul Springer.

Tastee Freez scored a goal in the final period to earn a 2-2 tie with Little Bills Trophies. Jim McMaster scored both goals for the Freezers with Ken Carter picking up two assists. Mike Villeneuve received one assist.

Jerry Robertson tallied twice for Little Bills trophies with Dave Milam assisting.

Brock Builders put on a late surge to capture a 3-2 victory over Jake's Lounge. Tom DiLaura tallied twice for Brock's with Ron Jacobs accounting for one goal. John Clearwood received two assists while John Colligan, Rick Wokowicz and John Davis picked up one assist.

Paul Kos and Rich Rieder tallied for Jake's Lounge with both players also getting an assist. Mike McGraw and Dennis Broge received one assist.

Johnson's Carbonic put together a six goal third period to hand All Saints Sports a 9-5 loss. Ron Johnson was high scorer with four goals and one assist. Tom Mazorowicz tallied twice along with two assists; Ed Harmon scored once and picked up three assists; Ron Blaszkowski and Curtis Oger had single tallied along with two assists. Ron Hays and Perry Toepfer finished with one assist.

Al Farina scored twice for All Sort Sports while Mike Beals, Craig Averill and John Kunz had single tallied. George Sharpe received two assists while Wendell Webb picked up one assist.

Looking to Sunday, Feb. 26: Jake's Lounge skates against Johnson's Carbonic at 4 p.m.; Little Bill's trophies plays Johnson's Bakery at 5:15 p.m. Tastee Freez hosts all Sorts Sports at 6:30 p.m.; Mic-Dago Pub plays Futurama at 7:45 p.m.; Brock Builders plays the nightcap against Family Heating at 9 p.m.

DOG LICENSE 1/84

All dogs in the City of Romulus must be licensed. This is for your benefit. If your family pet ever slips its leash, this policy could keep your child from being heartbroken. Also, if you are bitten, knowing that the dog is licensed and has had rabies shots can save you from worrying about a painful series of inoculations. The law was designed to benefit all City residents, whether or not they own dogs.

A City dog license costs $5.00 for both male and female dogs. Licenses for spayed and neutered dogs cost only $1.50. A lower license fee for these dogs is intended to help control the rise in the canine population. Senior citizens (age 65 or older) pay only $2.50 or $.75 per license. Proof of rabies vaccination must be presented when applying for a new dog license or renewal. March 1st of every year is the deadline for license renewal. A late fee of $1.50, in addition to the regular fee will be charged after that date.

TO LICENSE YOUR DOG

Bring a rabies vaccination certificate and an affidavit or Veterinary Certificate for spayed female or neutered male dogs, as well as proof of your age, if you qualify for the senior citizen discount, to:

Office of the City Treasurer
Romulus Municipal Building
11111 Wayne Road
Romulus, Michigan

between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. - Monday through Friday. A license will be issued to you at that time. The license tag must be worn by the animal at all times, attached by a collar of leather, iron, copper, brass or other durable material. Puppies must be licensed when they reach six months of age.

PENALTIES

Any person not adhering to any of the regulations outlined in this letter will be in violation of the provisions of the City's Animal Control Ordinance.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION:

Please call the Romulus Animal Control Center at 941-0666 Ext. 245, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. For emergencies after hours, call the Romulus Police Department 941-8400. The Animal Control Center will respond to all calls reporting licensed and unlicensed dogs running loose, injured animals, dead animals, dangerous dogs and excessive barking dogs.

Civic CRX. Motor Trend's 1984 Import Car of the Year: The Honda Civic CRX.

Motor Trend chooses Honda Civic

Motor Trend magazine has announced its 1984 Import Car of the Year — and for the first time in the 35-year history of the magazine's Car of the Year program, one car company has walked away with the first, second and third places. The Honda Civic CRX was named Import Car of the Year, and was followed by the Honda Prelude and the Honda Civic Hatchback.

In an official ceremony at the National Automobile Dealers Association Convention in Dallas, Texas recently, Robert E. Brown, senior vice-president, corporate development of Petersen Publishing, presented Y. Mune-kuni, senior vice-president, automobile division of American Honda Motor Co., with the award.

"The 13 cars entered this year represented one of the toughest competitive fields we've ever had. Among those tested were the Mercedes-Benz 190E, the Nissan 300 ZX Turbo, the Audi 5000S Turbo, the BMW 318i and the Audi 4000S Quattro. We've never had such end-to-end excellence," Brown said.

Eleven editors of Motor Trend, spent seven days testing the selected cars in three objective and six subjective categories. The objective categories were fuel economy, acceleration and chassis dynamics; the subjective were styling, quality, comfort, ride and drive, dollar value and handling.

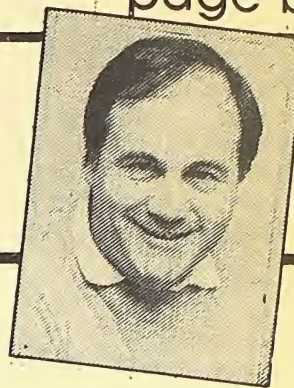

Tony Swan, Editor of Motor Trend and author of the testing report, said "Although top scoring in most categories was evenly divided among several of the cars, the Civic CRX scored top marks in the one category that matters most — value. In fact, that sums up what this award is all about: The best car for the money in a given year. And if we look past the Civic CRX at how Honda ran away with the scoring overall, it says a great deal about what the people at Honda are doing. They're not content to have merely the best import car for the money in 1984. They have the best three."

In accepting the award, Mune-kuni said, "It's exciting to have a car selected Import Car of the Year anytime — but especially when you consider the competition in 1984.

"For us though, it is most gratifying to have Hondas finish first, second and third. We consider ourselves an engineering-oriented company where product comes above all else. This recognition by Motor Trend of the depth of our engineering and design is something of which we are most proud."

world of wheels
... by denny campbell

Certainly one of the big considerations when it comes to buying a car is the price; lately it seems that every time you turn around something has doubled in price or there's been a price increase. Car dealers, and their main mentors, the finance people, have been as acutely aware of this as we, the consumers have been aware. And, it would appear, another option is being presented — the consumer lease. Not brand new, but improved!

Simplified, it works like this — you pick the car, a price is determined, you write a check for one month's "rent", one month as security deposit, plus license and fees and drive away! Your amount is determined by the length of your lease, usually 24, 36, 48 or even 60 months. To further facilitate lower payments, you can even make a 5 percent "down" payment — it could be smaller, but not greater than 5 percent. After the first year, you can "buy-out" the lease at any time for a pre-established residual value. One other major consideration is usually a 15,000 miles per year limitation — more than that and you pay $.06/mile penalty.

So, what does it all mean??? Well, when we talk your everyday, reliable, good weather/bad weather transportation, I haven't met very many people who have made money owning their car — in fact, I think it's fair to say that because of depreciation and maintenance, the car is one's largest operating expense.

And few that I talk to are driving something that's paid for! And because cars here are such a necessity, then leasing becomes a logical option: No down payment, fixed monthly rate, and you can walk away at the end of the lease. I figure that to buy a car, with 15 percent down, the money you lose in interest from the down payment makes one lease payment per year, at a minimum. So, if you compare costs, be sure you include this. The bottom line? If you can handle the mileage restriction, why not?

This leasing trend is beginning to show up in the motorcycle marketplace, as well. For the more expensive bikes, like BMW, Ducatti, Laverda, and Honda Goldwings, where the residual values are high, it provides a way to operate the bike you lust for at a rate you can afford. Hmmm, I wonder if the Kawasaki Ninja qualifies???

Incidentally, in gathering up information for this overly informative, earth-shattering column, I did discover a rather well-kept secret of sorts — one of the lease companies, General Electric Credit, or GeCal, offers very competitive insurance rates as an incentive to do business with them. Ask about it at your Eagleland Car Dealer!!

Next week, we ride a BMW 3181 — should all cars be compared to it?? Will my cold be gone by then???

See you then.

Some auto expenses are tax deductible

Michiganians who bought a new car last year can claim significant 1983 federal tax reductions, including deducting the registration fee as personal property tax for 1984 cars bought after Oct. 1, reports the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Motorists who itemize deductions on their 1983 federal income tax forms can claim state sales tax on car purchases plus interest paid on auto loans," said Stan O'Connor, Auto Club Tax manager.

Last October, Michigan

changed to a new registration system, switching from plates fees based on vehicle weight to a tax on the vehicle's base price. Persons who bought a 1984 vehicle after Oct. 1 will pay more for plates, but that cost will be deductible from their federal income taxes.

For instance, a 1984 Ford LTD, 4-door sedan, has a base price of $8,605 and weighs 2,804 pounds. Under the old weight system, the plates would cost $23. Under the new value system, the plates for the first year would cost $43 and qualify for a deduction.

Motorists who itemize also can deduct casualty or theft losses not covered by insurance. These losses are limited to the excess over 10 percent of their adjusted gross income minus $100 per accident.

In lieu of itemizing business expenses, motorists can deduct 20.5 cents per mile for the first 15,000 miles and 11 cents per mile thereafter, plus parking fees and tolls.

Roadblock

Auto Club opposes sobriety stops

The Automobile Club of Michigan recently opposed a, "constitutionally questionable, non-cost-effective proposal" for police to create roadblocks to check all drivers for sobriety on state roads.

"We have consistently supported every sensible measure to eliminate drunk drivers from our roads, but we view delaying and frightening motorists with flashing lights and setting up barriers to check everyone's sobriety as unreasonable," stated Auto Club Safety and Traffic Manager Robert Cullen.

Speaking at a public hearing of the Michigan Drunk Driving Task Force, Cullen suggested that alternative steps be taken, such as the increased use of selective enforcement, improved control over businesses selling alcohol and alcohol awareness programs in Michigan schools.

The hearing — the first of five scheduled statewide — was held at the Grand Rapids North East Middle School.

Cullen cited a Maryland survey which showed that of 6,171 drivers who were stopped by check lanes in that state, only one-half of one percent had been drinking at all. "This survey plus similar results from other states with check lanes clearly show such a program is not cost effective," he said.

The Auto Club spokesman also questioned the legality of sobriety checkpoints since the Michigan Motor Vehicle Code authorizes police to spot check cars for defective equipment and other violations but does not extend that provision to the inspection of drivers.

Cullen pointed out that Michigan Living magazine, the official publication for the Auto Club's

1.25 million members, is taking a strong editorial position against the proposed roadblocks in its March issue.
